CELEBRATE TRADITIONS!
Getting together around a family holiday table, no matter what country we live in, we speak our native language, feast on the dishes we’ve known since our childhoods, and teach our children the deep respect for traditions that we feel ourselves, for we know that these traditions are the glue that holds families together and, in a bigger sense, makes the whole world such a wonderful place to live in.
So let’s celebrate our traditions and enjoy the wondrous winter holidays together!

RUSSIAN DOLL – PERFECT FAMILY GIFT

It symbolizes Motherhood, strong family connections, care, and love
Tea-drinking is a truly significant part of the Russian culture. It is not just a beverage - it's a social activity with a long-reaching tradition behind it. The history of the Russian tea-drinking ceremony began in 1638 when the Russian Tsar Mikhail Fyodorovich received a special diplomatic gift from the Mongol Khan. The tradition of tea glass holders continues to this day!

This picture is famous not only because of how well it is painted, but also because of the popularity of hunting in the 19th century. Vasiliy Perov (the artist) was himself an avid hunter & in this painting he accurately reflects the emotional state of the characters - boys will be boys!

Gorodets painting is one of the most famous folk arts of Russia & a vivid phenomenon of the so-called "naive art." Bright and ironic horsemen, soldiers, ladies, gentlemen, and dogs – these were the images of the unique style and famous techniques of Gorodets artists.

This type of finely knit, down-hair lace shawl originated in the Orenburg area of Russia about 250 years ago. This part of Russia is famous for its shawls, known as Orenburg. In English, they are often called "wedding ring shawls" because, although the shawls are quite large, a shawl knit in this traditional fashion is so fine that it can be pulled through a wedding ring.

An ushanka hat is more than just a stylish piece of winter wardrobe – its versatility is legendary, as there are numerous different combinations of wearing this warm and cozy hat, based on the specific weather conditions.

RUSSIAN LUXURY

Nicholas II, the last emperor of Russia, wears the Imperial Crown in an illustration from the time of his 1896 coronation.

IMPERIAL CROWN OF RUSSIA

Court jewels. The Grand Imperial Crown of Russia. It is studded with 4,936 diamonds. The entire piece is made to resemble a mitre, traditional headwear of leaders in some religious traditions. The crown consists of two hemispheres (representing the 2 halves of the Roman empire), which are edged with 75 white pearls and divided by a central arch. You’ll note oak leaves & acorns in the garland design of the arch, motifs that represent strength and resilience. Atop the arch sits an enormous spinel, which weighs 400 carats and has been part of the imperial collection since the 17th century. The diamond cross situated atop the spinel emphasizes the religious role of the monarch. A red velvet cap sits inside the crown.

A ROYAL TRADITION

Expert diamond setter. Carl Faberge began making these art pieces for the Royal family of Russia around 1885. He produced one egg a year, as per orders of Tsar Alexander. Each egg took a year to make & it was ordered that each egg house a little surprise inside!

According to the Chinese zodiac, the symbol of 2019 is the Yellow Earth Pig (Bore). This animal embodies abundance, generosity, and wealth. The Pig is the patron of hardworking people and couples.

How to celebrate:

The Earth Pig is the symbol of comfort. It is recommended to decorate not only the Christmas Tree, but also the space around it. The Pig will love various kinds of candles, colorful balloons, and golden ribbons. The costume you wear should also be paid special attention to. However, even though gold is the main color for the year, a yellow dress is not an absolute necessity – just add the right accessories and the Pig will be happy!

What brings luck during the Year of the Pig:

- Lucky numbers: 2, 5, 8
- Lucky days: 17th, 24th
- Lucky colors: yellow, brown, gold
